FRANK CLAY NEWS

The school has renewed work with renewed vigor and energy, after the mid-year vacation, with good attendance of the enrollment, and with a number of new students entering, especially in the high school.

The holiday festivities were marred and darkened by the death of one of our young people, Mrs. May Glone, who was buried December 31st. The funeral services were conducted at the residence by the Rev. Mr. Bays of the Baptist church. The bereaved husband and near relatives and friends have the sincere sympathy of the entire community. To know her was but to love her.

The children of Mr. Wm. Byers, who have been indoors because of chicken pox, are able to be in school again.

We are glad to learn that Mr. Monte Sinclair is opening a general merchandise store in our town this week. We sincerely hope that his business may prosper. Mr. Sinclair is a very worthy young man and deserves to prosper. Then, too, "competition is the life of trade."

At the meeting of the St. Louis Life Underwriters' Association Friday night the president, J. M. Bloodworth, was authorized to appoint a committee to nominate officers for the coming year to be elected on the third Tuesday in January.

A special resolution of thanks was offered the president for the time, thought and sacrifice he has given the association in the year. The association has grown from 90 members to more than 200. It has accumulated an advertising fund for educational uses and final arrangements will be made this week by the advertising committee for the proposed campaign.

A talk on "Efficiency," as applied to producing business, was given by Wm. King, and numerous other members gave experiences in selling and of services by agents to the public.

A large number of Bonne Terre people went over to Farmington Tuesday to witness the local option election. We are informed by some of those present that it was the most hotly contested election ever held in the history of the city. The streets were thronged with people all day. So far as we can learn, everything passed off peacefully.

BUSINESS COLLEGE NOTES.

We are pleased to report to the former Moothart students, and to all others that are looking forward to pursuing a high grade Business College course, that Farmington voted the Saloons on Tuesday, this week. The absence of saloons from a school and college town is now looked upon as one of the best drawing features for patronage, and hence is not only good for the schools, but for all lines of business, and the citizenship generally of the city and community.

Miss Mamie Matkin of Farmington, sister of our student Miss Frankie Hamilton and Miss Leona Huff of Elvins, were visitors recently.

Chris Meyer of St. Louis, brother of Miss Edna Meyer, one of our graduates called at the College office this week, reporting that his sister Miss Edna has a good stenographic position with the Y. W. C. A. in St. Louis. We are gratified indeed to have this report from Miss Edna, as she surely is a worthy and deserving young woman.

Messrs. Chasteen and Huber are doing the private stenographic work in President Moothart's office this week, being successors of Messrs. Shelley and Sackman, who did the same work last week.

Lee Horton is proving himself a hustling student-getter indeed, as he has already brought in two new ones since January 4th, and promises to have one or more for us next week.
